

The 2019 International Conference on Blockchain Technology (ICBCT 2019) will be held in Honolulu, Hawaii, USA during March 15-18, 2019.

Recognizing the importance of Blockchain and related technologies, the International Economics. Development and Research Center held a conference to foster the development of an initiative. As several subject matter experts discuss the status of the technology, attendees give their own perspectives, and attendees share their research results. This diverse group of experts will generate more than great ideas; they will define the work that must be done for Blockchain to reach its potential, and will focus the energy to accomplish it.
